A Director of Cratos Advisors in Toronto, Ontario, Canada, Lynn is a senior financial and operations executive who brings over 26 years of executive, hands-on and turnaround management experience in the areas of corporate finance, operations management, financial and operational restructuring, corporate refinancing and bankruptcy representation on both the debtor and creditor sides.

While her roots are in financial and operations management, she also has extensive experience in corporate restructuring and recovery, strategic planning, business transactions, conversion and integration solutions and business/product development – bringing new products and services to market. Rounding out her experience, Lynn is proficient in forensic accounting, preferential and fraudulent conveyances, and bankruptcy procedures.

Lynn has served both private and public clients in a wide variety of industries, including state-of-the-art electronics manufacturing, technology, data distribution, automotive suppliers, petroleum product distribution & convenience store, trucking, heavy equipment, mining and earthmoving, construction, agriculture and food services, furniture, textiles, infrastructure installation and services and importing and manufacturing.

Lynn brings a unique ability to quickly analyze a business, determine needs, conceptualize solutions and implement a broad-based plan of action. In addition, she is highly proficient at streamlining business processes, systems and procedures and managing complex systems conversions.

Lynn was an Associate with TBA Management from February 2000 to July 2004 prior to TBA's merger with Aurora Management Partners. For the past eleven years Lynn has held Senior Consultant and Director positions with Aurora Management Partners before joining Cratos Advisors. Lynn is a member of the Turnaround Management Association, Toronto Chapter.
